AMUSEMENTS.

Van Osten's company is adding new laurels to its already great reputation among Wheeling playgoers. Last night's bill, "Dorcas," will be remembered as one of the most successful plays produced by this company earlier in the season. Clever, handsome and winsome Inez Mecusker duplicated, last night, her former triumph, and if any agai, her former triumph, and if any praise can be bestowed it must be to say that last night she seemed at the very height of her vivacious and Joyful self, imparting to "Lady Honoria" a dash and abandon exquisitely delicate and refreshing. Charles Meyer was a whole show in himself and has certainly lost once of his ability to be funny. Miss Harmon was dignity personified in Lady Lambourne."

Tuesday evening: "Gayest Manhattan" has been seen here before, but its friends furned out en masse to welcome it back. The company is large, and has a number of petty women, all of whom can sing, and many of whom dance attractively. Richard Gorman furnished splenty of fan as the countryman "seeing the sights" in New York, in his fun-making he was assisted by Gus Pixley, who appears as a teacher of elocution, and incidentally does his whistling act. Kate Michalena and Mabel Montgomery look well as society girls, and sing better.

on a justice shop docket generally means another round of a battle which has extended over a year. The entire population of Twilight, with natives of the adjoining districts will assemble in Squire Fitzpatrick's court this afternoon, in the suit for damages brought by Colonel John W. Fleahman against Postmaster James N. Phillips.

Thirty-five witnesses have been summoned and interested parties are coming from far and near. At Fleahman's store in Twilight last eight, and at the postoffice where Phillips presides, the war was given a temporary throw down, and the outcome of to-day's litigation held the fort against all comers, Colonel W. W. Arnett will lead the Fleahman hosts in the suit for $290, alleged to have resulted from Phillips' wilful neglect and destruction of property on the Fleahman place, until April 1, rented by Phillips. In the bill of particulars are included "damage to the mill dam," "neglect by allowing gates to swing in the wind," and other items which total the amount named.

Several days ago Fleahman won a 348 damage suit against Phillips, and shortly previous to that Phillips was successful.
